You know, this whole thing pales to insignificance compared to General Motors' alleged monopoly abuse. I hear that they are requiring their dealerships to accept delivery on SUVs that the dealership has no way in Hell of ever selling! The only way to get ahead in this industry is to be a "yes-man", and the newspapers all print whatever they feel that their best advertisers, the auto industry, wants them to. Talk about conflict of interest! Their management is clueless! Leave poor Microsoft alone, and go after these planet destroyers!
